

Gov. Pawlenty, do you share our values?

“The Pawlenty administration has proposed weakening local government rights and environmental protections to help our state’s largest corporate ag interests. That puts family farms like ours at risk. Minnesotans value family farms. Gov. Pawlenty should too.”

– Dave and Florence Minar milk 165 cows on their Cedar Summit Farm. Dave is a 3rd generation dairy farmer.

Gov. Pawlenty has proposed bringing more factory farms into Minnesota by weakening township local control and bedrock environmental protections. This is not what Minnesotans value. Minnesotans overwhelmingly support townships maintaining the right to create standards stronger than state minimum regulations to protect the local community. Minnesotans want to protect our rivers, streams and groundwater and reject the notion that we must roll back environmental protections and streamline regulations to benefit big agribusiness.

Minnesotans value strong local government, family farms and clean water.

To find out more, go to www.landstewardshipproject.org or call 507-523-3366